WAR SPENDING BUDGET UNDER TAFT HAMMER

DEMOCRATS TRYING TO BLOCK RAIDS BY WALLACE

BY JACK BELL
Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Democrats moved to shore up their defenses against raids by Henry A. Wallace today as Senator Taft (R-Ohio) hammered at what he called President Truman's "war spending" budget.

Taft, who is seeking the GOP presidential nomination, told the President, R. I. Republican club last night that $3,000,000,000 can be cut off the president's $29,669,000,000 budget for the year beginning July 1.

Taft proposed an increase in six cents funds as an alternative to universal military training and a $1,000,000,000 cut in foreign aid spending plans. He accused the treasury of juggling figures to prevent a tax cut last year and demanded a cut now in individual income taxes.

"One-Man Party"
Meanwhile James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman during the first two terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt, lashed out at Wallace in a speech at Lynchburg, Va.

He said the third party candidate had failed to find "happiness" in either the Republican or Democratic parties and expressed the hope "now that he has a party of his own, he can be happy in it and loyal to it."

Farley said it "seems to be a one-man party" and may "end as a one-man party."

Taft leveled most of his fire last night against the Truman administration and the Democrats in general on the domestic front.

He said although the president's budget calls for taxes that will take 30 per cent of the nation's income, Mr. Truman is "not satisfied" with that and is proposing a new 1/2 of 1 per cent payroll tax for a compulsory health insurance program.

He said that while the president now estimates a $7,500,000,000 surplus for the current government year, last summer "the president and the Secretary of the Treasury insisted that the surplus would be only $1,500,000,000 and on that ground the president vetoed two tax reduction bills."

"It seems to me we are entitled to have correct figures without efforts to influence public opinion for administration policies," Taft said. "It appears now that there never was a justification for vetoing the tax reduction bill."

Texas Backs Senator
Taft got a political boost yesterday when Col. R. B. Creaser, Texas GOP national committee member, said in Philadelphia that his state's delegation to the Republican convention will be unimpaired and is expected to back Taft.

There was evidence that the Democrats were weighing the Wallace threat to Mr. Truman's political future and taking steps to do something about it.

Gael Sullivan, Democratic committee director, took Harry Carson, New Hampshire national committeeman, and Henry C. Sevier, Louisiana committeeman, to the White House separately yesterday for conferences with the president.

Starvation In Ruhr Helps Communists Wreck U.S. Program

BY WES GALLAGHER
Berlin, Jan. 16 (AP)—A reported Communist master strike scheme to wreck the Marshall Plan threatened today to paralyze Germany's industrial heart: The Ruhr. Hunger, gripping 4,000,000 weary workers, many of whom are living on a starvation diet, became an ally of the Communists, whose aims were alleged to have been revealed in a mysterious "Protocol M" document, published yesterday in some German newspapers.

Simultaneously, Germany's sputtering political situation boiled up. Several old line German Communists revealed they had split with Moscow-directed Communists and formed an opposition party.

The Moscow radio added its bit to the Ruhr's turbulent political pot by broadcasting a special program to hungry Ruhr miners seeking to prove that the way to more potatoes was through the Communist party.

The Ruhr, which has remained comparatively quiet since last winter's food riots, sprang suddenly into the European picture when the 1,550 calory subsistence ration level dropped in many places to 1,200 and even 1,100 levels.

Although British-American food imports have been on schedule, collections from German farmers have not.

American and British military governments blamed German officials for failure to collect. German officials in turn blamed the military governments for not giving them power to enforce collections.

Against the advice of their union leaders, Ruhr workers have launched protest strikes.

Starting with 25,000 yesterday, the ranks of the strikers appeared to be swelling well over the 100,000 mark today and a general strike involving most of the 4,000,000 workers threatened the entire Ruhr.

In the midst of these developments, the "protocol M" document popped up simultaneously at several places in Germany.

"Protocol M" was reported to be an operational order from the Communist "international information bureau" for a paralyzing strike in the Ruhr in March, aimed at smashing the Marshall Plan.

NO LETUP YET FOR MICHIGAN IN COLD WAVE

WINDS WHIP DRIFTS AS MERCURY DROPS BELOW ZERO

(By The Associated Press)
The United States weather bureau today warned Michigan to prepare for temperatures of zero and below.

A new cold wave struck early today and forecasters saw little immediate relief in sight.

Temperatures should moderate somewhat Sunday afternoon and Monday, the report said, but will drop again next midweek.

Zero temperatures were forecast tonight for Detroit and southeastern Michigan, five below for the interior of the Lower Peninsula and five above along Great Lakes shorelines.

The Upper Peninsula may expect 10 to 15 degrees below zero, according to the report.

Strong winds knifed across the state and the Automobile Club of Michigan said they were making driving difficult in some areas. However, all main roads were open.

HUNGARY BANS 6 FILM STARS
Budapest, Hungary, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Hungarian Ministry of Interior today banned the films of six Hollywood stars, who it said testified before the House committee on un-American activities last fall in Washington.

The ban, effective Jan. 22, named Robert Taylor, Gary Cooper, Adolphe Menjou, Allan Jones, George Murphy and Robert Montgomery.

It was the first open Hungarian action against Hollywood productions since the wartime expulsion of all Allied films.

Cooper, idol of cowboy-loving Hungarian youngsters and a top favorite with the older generation, is the only one of the six actors who has been featured lately at a Budapest theater. His picture, "Along Came Jones," a western, has been showing here.

Last week left-wing organizations launched an attack against American movies in line with allegations of "imperialism."

Sandor Nogradi, Communist under secretary of state, said then Hungary would not discriminate against United States films as such. He conceded that Hollywood seemed to be exporting more amusing pictures than Russia.

It was not known here whether similar steps were being taken by other countries of southeastern Europe whose Communist parties are members of the Communist "International Information Bureau."

The Per Ephraim Anderson story has a happy ending! Manistique relatives of the 68-year-old Swedish farmer, who had given up his search for kinfolk in the United States after saving his money for 23 years to make the trip, "rescued" him yesterday afternoon—one day before he was scheduled to sail from New York City to a lonely Nyack home near the Arctic Circle.

Canada Puts Price Controls Back On Meat And Butter

BY ROBERT BUNNELLE
Ottawa, Jan. 16 (AP)—Canadian consumers, beset by steadily soaring living costs, looked for at least partial relief today in the government's reimposition last night of price controls on meat and butter.

In addition, the government said it will ask Parliament to extend rent controls until March 31, 1949.

Controls on meat and butter were lifted last fall, and since that time prices have climbed, accompanied by the angry protests of consumers.

In Ottawa, butter is currently selling for 73 cents a pound wholesale, and residents who have a fancy for good beefsteak find it priced at 60 to 65 cents.

Butter costs consumers around 95 cents a pound in New York City and steak costs them from 65 to 90 cents a pound.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, who announced the reimposition of controls on the two prime staples last night, said a ceiling price would be fixed on butter in a day or two, pegged on a wholesale price per pound in Montreal of 67 cents. It will take about two weeks to evolve a meat ceiling, he said.

Although Abbott said meat ceilings will mean Canadian wholesale and retail prices for pork will be considerably above those of a month ago, they will be less than many prices reported during the past fortnight.

Beef, lamb and veal prices will be fixed at prices "moderately above" ceilings abolished last October.

UNION TO ASK 25-CENT RAISE
New Demands Mapped For Dickers With Auto Industry

Detroit, Jan. 16 (AP)—The CIO United Auto Workers announced today they would seek a wage increase of 25 cents an hour and an additional five cents for other benefits in forthcoming negotiations with the motor car industry.

The demands, approved by the union's 22-man executive board, are aimed at obtaining a third round of cost-of-living adjustments since the war.

Also included are demands for a guaranteed weekly wage and a three-week vacation for workers with five years seniority.

A 25 cent wage increase would boost average pay for the auto workers to roughly $17.5 an hour, would cover hospitalization, health, medical and surgical insurance.

"A 25 cent wage increase is necessary," the board's statement said, "to restore the buying power of auto workers' wages to the level attained in June 1946, the last month of effective price control."

Marshall Has Been Wrong, Congressman Hoffman Points Out
Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.), long an outspoken opponent of foreign aid programs, lashed back to Pearl Harbor today in asserting Congress should not unquestioningly accept Secretary of State Marshall's opinions.

Referring to Marshall, who is urging Congress to make an initial appropriation of $6,800,000,000 for a four-year European recovery program, Hoffman said in a statement:

"Some just cannot forget his inability to remember where he was the evening of December 7, 1941, when the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor."

If Marshall, then army chief of staff, "did not know the Japs were about to attack, despite all the sources of information available to him, 'why should we unquestionably accept his opinion as to what we must now do to be saved?' asked Hoffman.

Vandenberg Praised By Cabinet Member

Speaking before the Economic Club, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson added:

REVENUE LOSS TO BE FOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

TRUMAN $40 SLASH BEST BET, SAYS TREASURY HEAD

Washington, Jan. 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder today virtually promised the Republican-controlled Congress that President Truman will veto any attempt to reduce income taxes without boosting other federal revenues.

He laid what looked like an administration ultimatum before the House Ways and Means committee, whose GOP majority is bent in passing a tax-cutting measure quickly. It went like this:

"The revenue loss resulting from any tax adjustments should be offset by upward revisions in other taxes. There must be no reduction in aggregate revenue."

Budget Upset
Snyder said the president's own plan of a $40 income tax cut for each taxpayer and dependent, matched by a new $3,200,000,000 bite of corporation profits which exceed a prewar average, would fill the bill.

But he declared a measure by Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the Ways and Means committee, to cut income taxes without making up the loss elsewhere, would wipe out part of this year's budget surplus and create a $2,000,000,000 deficit in the 1949 fiscal period starting July 1.

Furthermore Snyder declared, the Knutson bill would cost the government $6,200,000,000 a year instead of the $5,600,000,000 estimated by the Minnesota.

"The cold facts are," Snyder said, "that present economic conditions, budgetary considerations, inflationary pressures and debt management problems require the maintenance of government revenue at present levels."

Knutson Bill Ripped
In his prepared statement as opening witness at the committee's tax hearings Snyder stopped short of calling president Truman's plan the only one the administration will accept.

But he called it the "fairest" and "most equitable" way of making a "cost-of-living tax adjustment" to ease the hardship of price increases on families with low incomes.

He said the Republican-favored Knutson bill would do less for the poorer taxpayers and above all it would cause a critical loss of government revenue.

Republicans have declared the president's plan "dead as a mackerel."

Snyder blasted at the Knutson bill point by point. He gave the administration view on three important parts of that measure as follows:

1. Extension to all states of the community property principle, now effective in only 12 states whereby married couples obtain lower tax rates—"should be given a high priority" among tax revisions later on. It should not be adopted now because it would mean a government revenue loss of $803,500,000 of which 97.5 per cent would go to those with incomes above $5,000.

2. Increasing the personal exemption from $500 to $600—the $500 exemption is "too low" by far and the $100 boost is "inadequate" for present high living costs. The president's $40 tax credit would do more for lowest

Escanaba Planning Unit Will Meet Here Saturday With Milwaukee Engineer

The ordinance establishing a city planning commission to regulate building and administrative zoning regulations became official with its second, required reading before the city council at the regular meeting in the city hall last night.

Members of the commission and length of their respective terms follow: John J. Bartella, Charles Gessner, Carl G. Nelson, three years each; Grover Lewis, William Warrington, Alex St. Cyr, two years each, and O. V. Thatcher, Dale Vinette and J. F. Bartlett one year.

Mayor Marvin L. Coon and City Manager A. V. Aronson serve as ex-officio members of the commission.

The commission will meet in the city hall at 4 p. m. Saturday to consult with Elmer Krieger, of Milwaukee, the professional planning engineer whose services recently were procured by the city to continue its present policy of snow removal, concentrating on Ludington street and on side streets north and south of Ludington street as far as the alley and removing the snow as rapidly as possible with present equipment.

Every effort will be made, it was pointed out, to keep the business district clear of snow during the winter to facilitate shopping and normal business trade. The cost of clearing snow from one block on one side of the street, the city manager pointed out, is approximately $7.

The council approved a contract with the Escanaba Yacht club granting use by the club of the city water plant building until the city constructs a marine building or until the city desires to use the water plant construction for municipal water purposes, at which time the club will vacate on six months' notice.

The city manager was authorized to inspect and report on ground in the vicinity of the Escanaba ore docks requested by Bud Pryal of Modern Crete company for expansion of his plant.

Under present terms, Pryal has 2,200 square feet and he desires an additional construction giving him floor space totaling 6,400 square feet.

The city manager was authorized to attend the state managers' meeting in Jackson Jan. 28, 29 and 30.

ROADS DRIFTED BUT ALL OPEN

Some Sideroads May Be Blocked Tonight If Winds Continue

Strong northwesterly winds whipped light snow across the frozen crust in open areas in Delta county and most of Northern Michigan today but all county and state trunkline roads were reported still open for traffic at noon.

The state highway department reported considerable drifting in most sections of the Upper Peninsula and the northern half of Lower Michigan. Plows were at work and all roads were open. It was slippery in places in most sections of Northern Michigan, bringing a warning to motorists to drive cautiously until conditions had been improved.

In Delta county all roads were open, but J. T. Sharpsteen, county road commission superintendent - engineer, reported that some sideroads may be blocked by tonight if the drifting continues. All plows were out today to keep traffic moving on mail, milk and school bus routes.

City plows were out in Gladstone and Escanaba and the removal of snow from principal business streets was again under way. Slippery spots at intersections were being sanded.

The airport project was launched by the county, at the request of the late Mayor Michael C. Olsen and Supt. W. H. Zeratsky of Menominee township as a WPA project in 1939. Work continued for two years and was abandoned after President Roosevelt ordered all activities of WPA suspended at the start of World War II.

Willow Run, Mich., (U.P.) — Under proper conditions, test-skidding an automobile is a good practice for motorists who want to avoid dangerous skids on icy roads this winter, says Charles Landers, Kaiser-Frazer project engineer in charge of test driving.

"When the road is clear in both directions, and you are driving slowly, it's a good idea to make a fairly quick stop," he said. "That may put you into a slight skid, but it will give you a chance to check road conditions as well as your brakes."

350 Arrested For Conservation Law Violations In 1947

In a summary of law enforcement and forest fire control activity in the Delta-Marquette-Alger conservation district, it was revealed today by John Chriske, district supervisor, that conservation officers made a total of 350 arrests in the district last year. This is an increase of 103 arrests over the 1946 total of 247.

Total fines collected for conservation violations was $6,130; fines suspended totaled $480; costs collected totaled $2,348; and taxes and damages collected totaled $581.30.

Violations of the state gun laws accounted for 104 of the 350 conservation law arrests, including illegal transportation, failure to have a permit, and violating the permit provisions. Violations of the laws protecting deer accounted for 97 arrests; fish law violations totaled 65; and there were 19 violations of the state forest fire laws.

During the past year in the district there were a total of 175 forest fires, compared with 141 in 1946. The fires last year burned a total of 858.8 acres and caused damage that totaled $4,988.29.

Railroads were the major cause of forest fires in 1947, with locomotives sparks starting 73 in the district. Smokers caused 43, brush burning started 14, lightning set 11, careless campers started 3, and lumbering operations caused 6. Five of the total fires in the district were ascribed to incendiary origin. The total cost of forest fire suppression was $10,577.15 for the district.

Russia began coining platinum money in 1828.

One Expose Leads To Another, Says Bob Ruark

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
New York.—Has anybody seen Howard Hughes lately?
The only reason I ask is that Howard was the man we started out to investigate before this chain-reaction set in. Something about big fat contracts from the government to build airplanes.
Then along came Johnny Meyers and all his expense accounts. Somehow Elliott Roosevelt and a passel of blonde broads crept in to the picture and suddenly there was Johnny's paternity case with the hat-check chick.
Then, lo and behold, Howard started to bite Senator Brewster, who fled shrieking that somebody pulled a gun on him. Then Howard took his hyperthyroid plane off and the gawky thing actually flew, probably surprising Howard as much as anybody else. Howard came back to Washington and while they were hollering two million, ten million, 20 million, in walked Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers with his own little road-show.
Things got a touch hysterical then. Seems to me that the general wasn't doing too badly until his employee, Bleriot LaMarre, came down with a hard fit of honesty and started hollering that he and the general had cooked up a story which was a real old-fashioned lie, to fool the inquisitors in the Ferguson committee.
Then we had all the razzmatazz about the general's automobiles and his—according to him—sizing romance with pretty little Missus LaMarre, which the bald-headed old boy revealed in a rash of chivalry. They proceed to haul the Air Force into it and the brass began to run in circles, yelling "fiel fiel for shame!" and protesting that they were looking the other way when the general began to trade in war bonds.
Well, they gave Howard a party in Washington, out of gratitude for all the money he spent lugging newspapermen out to see that winged monster which actually fled. Simultaneously Missus LaMarre starts to shout slander and talk about suing the very parfit gentil knight, Meyers.
Pa LaMarre, looking a little peaked, takes a job in a filling station, to show what a big smart executive he is, and there is a small lull.
But the atom parts were still splitting and before Christmas an comes honest Hal Stassen with his own little expose. He begins to stomp and scream that a flock of Cousin Harry's household folks are trafficking in the grain market.
Before you can say oil-lease it seems Old Uncle Ed Pauley is up to his armpits in the speculation, which is good for several days consternation because Uncle Ed took the fall once before on account of his boyish interest in oil properties.
Then it develops that Uncle Ed's private sawbones, Gen. Wallace Graham, is less preoccupied with the presidential prize than he is with the grain market. There is a good three-cornered scam going by now, with honest Hal velping at Clint Anderson, over to the farm bureau that Clint ain't puttin' out the right list of sinners, and Clint a-roaring right back that he is. Gen. Graham is glaring at Stassen, and Stassen is looking smug for the picture snappers. Everybody is velping "lar" at everybody else.
Lost His Pants
So about that time who pops up as a speculator but the late great financial brain, Squire Morgenthau. This is the comedy relief for that trigger-minded guide of our economic destinies over the last decade-and-a-half allows that sure, he was playing with wheat, but he lost his pants. It is roughly comparable to a declaration from Noah that he never knew the first thing about arks.
Well, now it seems we got a senator mixed up in it, too. Sen. Elmer Thomas from Oklahoma says he was merely trying to pad out the measly wage they pay

LE CLAIR GUILTY ON 2 CHARGES

Commercial Fisherman Convicted At Manitowoc

Manitowoc (P)—Municipal Court Judge O. T. Bredesen found Joseph Le Clair, commercial fisherman of Two Rivers, guilty on two charges of fishing law violations and another of obstructing state game wardens in their efforts to seize evidence of violations.

Sentence was pronounced Monday morning.
Defense Atty. Herbert Hunke immediately announced his intention of appealing the case to circuit court.
On December 2, Warden Doland Evers boarded Le Clair's tug, the Susie Q, some distance out in Lake Michigan. The state charged that nets of illegal sized mesh, dragged from the lake bottom at the scene of the boarding, had been used by Le Clair and that Le Clair had thrown them overboard to escape detection by Evers.

The defense contended the nets produced in court were not Le Clair's property and that Evers exceeded his authority in boarding the Susie Q.
Evers declared that after boarding the Le Clair tug, he was refused admittance to the cabin and was kept on deck in frigid weather until the craft nearly had reached port.

Still pending are two other cases growing out of the Le Clair arrest. In these actions, the state charges that state Senator Everett (Butch) La Fond and Assemblyman Frank Le Clair, both commercial fishermen, obstructed the warden attempting to seize fishing equipment removed from the Susie Q. Both defendants have denied the charges.

I am not seeking a moral here, unless it's the old one about heaving the first brickbat through the greenhouse window. The expose business has become very unsafe, because you start out needing an airplane manufacturer and wind up delousing the White House, the Senate, and heaven knows who all.

Oldest Marquette County Resident Is Killed In Fall

Louis LaForias, sr., 97, Marquette county's oldest resident and grandfather of Clifford Vadnais, Escanaba, died Thursday of injuries sustained in a fall at his home in Republic. At one time he was one of the largest lumber operators in the Upper Peninsula.
Carrying a pail of coal, Mr. LaForias suffered a skull fracture when he fell and struck his head on the cement floor of the cellar. He resided with a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Ryan.

Born in St. Lin, Canada, he came to Marquette county in 1868 and moved to Republic in 1873, when only a small shack marked the site of the village.

Active until his death, Mr. LaForias sawed, split and piled wood daily. On his 97th birthday last Christmas Day, he said, "I've never been sick in my life, nor had a toothache, headache or any other pains like younger fellows."

March Of Dimes Containers Out In Delta County

In preparation for the opening of the March of Dimes drive in Delta county the Boy Scouts have distributed 200 containers in which the public is invited to place coins to aid in the fight against infantile paralysis. Nevin Reynolds, county campaign director, announced today.

Appeal letters have also been addressed to 7,500 residents of Escanaba, Gladstone and the townships requesting donations to the polio fund.

These letters were typed and the letters addressed by the Senior High school commercial room students, with the Junior High commercial class students folding the letters, placing them in the envelopes and sealing them.

Lloyd Morgan, Gladstone city chairman for the campaign, said that the March of Dimes containers had all been distributed in that city; and Joseph L. Heirman, township chairman, will have the containers distributed soon in the county.

In Escanaba the containers were distributed by the Scouts of Troop 444 Thursday afternoon. Scouts aiding in the work were Arnold Johnson, Bruce Corcoran, Don Guimond, Jerry Olson, David Mason and Richard Noon.

Ignoring The Law

THE MICHIGAN ADOPTION LAW provides that no persons in charge of adoption records shall disclose the names of natural or adoptive parents of a child unless ordered to do so by a court of record. The purpose of this law is to protect adoptive parents and their foster children from possible interference by the natural parents. It has been an important factor in maintaining harmony in homes containing adopted children.

Nevertheless, Attorney General Eugene Black told a three-member Senate committee studying adoption procedures that it may disregard the statute prohibiting the disclosure of restricted information and may demand such data from the State Department of Social Welfare. Legislative investigators are not pledged to secrecy and they may use the information that they obtain any way they see fit, for gossip purposes or otherwise. The effect of Black's ruling then is to deny the protection granted by law to the 43,000 adoptive parents in Michigan.

Since the statute provides that the information may be made available by order of a court record upon a showing of good cause, Black's ruling is not destined to serve the public interest. If a legislative committee can show the need for the information that it desires, it can obtain a court order. To give the committee blanket authority to examine all secret records hardly is warranted or desirable. Violent protests are already being made by social workers and probate judges, who realize the harm that could develop as a result of the attorney general's interpretation of the law.

"Lea Act Is Dead"

JAMES PETRILLO, the czar of the nation's musicians, was acquitted in federal court Wednesday of a charge that he had violated the Lea act and immediately his attorney shouted, "The Lea act is dead."

The Lea act was adopted by Congress to curb the dictatorial powers of Petrillo. Specifically the act prohibits union officials from forcing radio stations or others to hire more musicians than they actually need.

Petrillo is alleged to have stated that he was deliberately violating the law in the case in point to provide a test case of the statute's legality and this was presented in evidence. The judge rejected it as "not determinative of (Petrillo's) guilt."

The case developed from a demand by Petrillo that radio station WAAF, Chicago, double its staff of librarians. The station refused to comply, contending that it did not need more than three record librarians, whereupon Petrillo pulled the three librarians off their jobs.

If the Lea act is going to be interpreted as Federal Judge LaBuy did in the Chicago case, the Lea act truly is dead. All of the evidence indicated conclusively that Petrillo attempted to do in the case of WAAF exactly what Congress had declared by statute to be illegal.

The effect of the decision is to nullify the intent and purposes of Congress in adopting the law. Petrillo himself concedes, indirectly at least, that this is true because after his acquittal he said, "The broadcasters have been telling me I cannot force them to hire more musicians than are needed. Now I can ask for additional musicians as long as they perform actual services."

In other words, the test is not whether a radio station needs additional employees, but whether some work, any work, can be found for them to do. This is feather-bedding, pure and simple, and it is exactly what Congress had intended to prohibit when it adopted the Lea act.

Cheaper Transportation

DO AMERICANS WANT a small, light automobile?

The motor industry generally does not think so because Ford and General Motors, as well as other car manufacturers, have scrapped their plans for light cars to concentrate on the production of standard vehicles.

And yet a survey just completed by Grant Advertising, Inc., revealed some rather startling information on this point. The survey showed that regardless of age, sex or income group, 60.4% of the Americans contacted in the nationwide inquiry are in favor of a small, light car. In Detroit, motor capital of the world, 83.8% are in approval.

Almost three-fourths of those who said that they favored a light, small automobile also stated that they would buy it in preference to the present so-called low-priced standard automobiles. Sixty-seven per cent said that they would purchase such a vehicle as their "first and only automobile" and 32% said that they would buy a small, light car as a second car in the family.

Interestingly enough, more than four out of five of the persons contacted stated emphatically that they would not pay more than $1,000 for such a new car.

The present high prices of standard automobiles, plus the increased maintenance and repair costs and the sharp boost in the price of gasoline all have combined to create a brisk demand for something radically different—and cheaper—in private motor transportation.

Pauley Will Quit

EDWIN PAULEY'S announcement that he will resign as assistant to Secretary of the Army Royal sometime this month is gratifying to all Americans who believe in the highest principles of integrity and ethics for responsible governmental officials.

President Truman apparently has a tender spot in his heart for Mr. Pauley for he has given Pauley numerous assignments of importance in federal service, despite widespread opposition. The president once nominated Pauley as assistant secretary of Navy but the nominee was denied confirmation by the Senate. Pauley's oil deals in which he mixed petroleum business with politics in California caught up with him on that occasion. This time it is Pauley's speculations in commodities, which helped to boost food prices, that finally forced Pauley from governmental office. He has admitted profiting to the extent of about a million dollars in his speculation.

Pauley, of course, has denied that he acquired any inside knowledge from governmental sources that enabled him to profit in his speculations. Whether he did or did not have inside information, the impropriety of his commodity transactions is apparent to all.

Despite Pauley's denial that Stassen's charges had no part in Pauley's decision to resign, the public can hardly be expected to believe otherwise. Stassen has done a service to the people in forcing this man out of public office.

KING GUSTAV'S FORTY YEARS

(Washington Star)

When The Star on Monday, December 9, 1907, reported the death of Oscar II and announced the accession of his son, King Gustav V, it quoted the latter as having told the Swedish nation: "Our aim will always be to be united with our people in the common work of the fatherland, recognizing fully that to this end we must look to the continuous co-operation of all classes."

Such a sentiment, obviously, might have been nothing more than a pious aspiration. That it was, instead, a principle to live by through four long decades is a matter for which the whole world owes acknowledgment to the sovereign of Sweden. No other monarch of his time has excelled him in his devotion to duty. Even in the face of repeated provocation, he has remained what he was in his youth—a gentleman of distinction.

But Gustav V deserves credit also for intelligence, skill, tact and charm in the meeting of his responsibilities. His task never has been easy. It has demanded all his talents. A less strong character could not have worked so hard during such a long period. Repeatedly he was confronted with emergencies incident to the wars and revolutions of his neighbors. He likewise, on several acute occasions, was obliged to deal with crises at home.

The ordeal must have wearied him to the soul. Yet at eighty-nine he still follows the routine which he established when he began his reign. Tall, straight, slender, and quietly aware of his position, he symbolizes his country perfectly, and his achievement is one in which his contemporaries, wherever they may dwell, can take pride.

One of the best meals of all could be made up of the items crossed out on the menu.

Take My Word For It

Frank Colby

SECRETARY'S HANDBOOK

Q. How should one spell the -ing form of the verb to alibi? Is it "alibing" or "alibiing"?

A. Neither. Simply add -ing to alibi, and spell it alibiing. The verb to alibi, "to offer an excuse," is a rather new American idiom, and is not to be found in many dictionaries. The past tense of alibi is spelled: alibied. If the "i" of alibi strikes you as irregular or improper, consider the verb to ski: The -ing form is always spelled: skiiing.

Q. My boss and I cannot agree on the right way to capitalize the surname of Charles de Gaulle. In using the surname only, should one write "Gaulle, De Gaulle, Degaulle," or "de Gaulle"?

A. The "de" of French names means "of or from." It is never capitalized except when it begins a sentence. Correct: De Gaulle told the French people that . . . The French people were told by de Gaulle that . . .

Incidentally, let me emphasize again that de Gaulle is not "dee gawl." The correct pronunciation is: duh gaw (gawle to rhyme with dale, hole).

Q. In writing the -ed and -ing forms of such words as cancel, travel, level, is it best to use one or two "s"?

A. In America, one "s" prevails. These are the preferred spellings of most authorities, and the only forms authorized by the United States Government Printing Office Style Manual: cancel, canceled, canceling, travel, traveled, traveling; level, leveled, leveling; stencil, stenciled, stenciling, etc.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington. — Henry Wallace's announcement that he would run for president on a third-party ticket has brought no stampede of prominent liberals eager to march under the Wallace banner. Except for professional fellow-travelers and avowed Communists, the response has been barely audible.

The Wallaceites — or Walliesians, as they have been called — intend to make up for this with a big rally in Chicago. The Progressive Citizens of America—what is left of it after resignations and defections—will stage a show intended to demonstrate that millions of American voters are waiting for an opportunity to elect a third-party president.

In the old New Deal days, Wallace had a legion of loyal followers. They worked with him in the department of agriculture, promoting better housing on the farms, better conditions for migratory workers and a host of reforms. Wallace was their prophet and they sat at his feet in genuine admiration.

MANY OPPOSE NEW PARTY

Most of these followers have long since left the government. Some of them hold influential positions around the country. Thus far, only two or three of these former followers have indicated that they would go with Wallace down the third-party road.

In fact, an informal canvass made the other day indicated that most of them would be willing to sign a statement denouncing a third party attempt in this critical year of 1948. Such a statement was contemplated in order to show that Wallace had failed to win to his cause even those liberals who at one time were the chief workers in the vineyard.

A conspicuous exception is C. E. Baldwin, former head of the Farm Security Administration. Baldwin, a paid executive of the Progressive Citizens, has remained loyal. He will have a lot to do with stage-managing the Chicago meeting.

It is significant that Chicago should have been chosen as the setting for the rally. Illinois is a major battleground for the Walliesians. They are confident that they can poll from 150,000 to 200,000 votes in that state as a minimum, which would in all probability be more than enough to make sure that Illinois' 28 electoral votes would go in the Republican column.

The speech-making and the whoopla at the Chicago rally will be for public consumption. Behind the scenes, Wallace's chief henchmen in Chicago have made some curious moves looking to a checkmate of the Democratic party in November.

CIO WARNS DEMOCRATS

Wallace's chief support in the Midwest comes from two CIO unions—the United Electrical Workers and the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America. Representatives of these two unions in Chicago paid a call on the Democratic king-makers as they were about to make up the state ticket. They came with a warning.

The warning was this. If the Democrats insisted on selecting Prof. Paul Douglas as their candidate for the United States Senate, then a third-party opponent would be placed in the field against him.

The real meaning of this is apparent when one recalls Douglas' background. He has repeatedly proved his liberalism in local politics in Chicago. For years he has been a staunch fighter for progressive measures. But he is for the Marshall plan. And in proof of his belief that America must accept world responsibility, he fought with the Marine Corps through many of the bloodiest battles of the Pacific, suffering severe wounds that have left him with a crippled left arm.

The Democrats ignored the warning. They backed Douglas for the senatorial nomination to run against Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, faithful traveler on the Chicago Tribune line. Douglas will make a fighting campaign, knowing that the end result may be merely education for the voters who hear him, since his chances will be slim with a third party candidate in the field.

What the Wallace rally can do besides make speeches is not yet clear. They could nominate a vice-presidential candidate. But Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho, whom Wallace wants on the ticket with him, insists that he has not yet made up his mind. He says he will run if he becomes convinced that the administration means to take the country into a preventive war against Russia, which is what Wallace said before he was fired from the Truman cabinet.

The Progressive Citizens, and the Communist manipulators in that organization, may be able to draw a little comfort from one source while they are in Chicago. The Chicago Tribune is following almost the same line with the same goal — to keep America isolationist.

Q. My boss insists on ending all his letters with this closing: "I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant." Isn't that overdoing it a little?

A. More than a little. Such flowery language is insincere and obviously untrue. It belongs to the Elegant Era, which went out of date with the sidesaddle, the mustache cup, and the gold-plated toothpick.

Do you know how to express determination correctly? Mr. Colby has written a leaflet? Mr. Colby has written "Cut" as a leaflet, C-4, which makes clear the proper use of shall-will and should-would.

To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him, care of Escanaba Daily Press, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

THE INDIAN—The Office of Indian Affairs like other government bureaus eager to perpetuate itself, announces through the National Geographic Society that the Indian population in the United States is increasing.

The Office of Indian Affairs counts as its wards about 400,000 Indians in the United States. Properly, it is announced that the majority of the Indians both on and off federal lands are only part Indian. Some of them are mostly white. One official on a reservation in one of the Middle-Western states reported that the "Indians" probably do not have as much more than one-quarter Indian blood. Which means, of course, that there are many persons of mostly white blood who are calling themselves Indians.

NO RACIAL PROBLEM—In Menominee county a few years ago there was considerable agitation over what to do to improve conditions at the Indian colony at Hannanville in Harris township. A number of proposals were made to assist the Indians who are living on land owned by the federal government. The Indians of Hannanville were told by professional social workers that they were low morally, were syphilitic, and that their general condition was deplorable.

There is no "racial problem" at Hannanville in the usual sense of the term. There is fraternization and occasional intermarriage. If the Indian suffers most by his contact with whites it is because he is loath to avail himself of the white man's medicines. If the venereal disease rate is higher in the Hannanville group than among whites in the rest of the county, it is an indictment of both the white and Indian—and that large group of half-breeds who exist as the result of low morality on the part of the white man as well as the Indian.

PATERNALISM—In the area of the present United States there were about 846,000 Indians at the time Columbus discovered America, ethnologists say.

The Office of Indian Affairs now counts as its wards 400,000 Indians. As we have pointed out above, these Indians are in the majority of mixed blood. The Indians Columbus found here were still that "100 per cent American" you often hear so much about these days.

After the Indians were sufficiently subdued and reduced in number to be harmless, the federal government began moving them here and there to what it called reservations—lands that at the time were considered valueless by the whites. Once on the reservations the Indians were subjected to a form of paternalism that varied in degree according to the budget of the Office of Indian Affairs.

When funds were low the Indian was told to become a good American citizen and help himself. When the appropriations were generous the government bureau encouraged the Indian to lean more heavily upon the Great White Father. It would be amazing if the Indian had progressed more than he has under such a wavering and confusing policy.

LAND STEWARDSHIP—The government continues to own the land assuring the Indians a tax-free place on which to live. Otherwise it has largely forgotten the approximately 130 Indians who are tenants on its land.

The amount of federal aid to the Indians at Hannanville had declined to a trickle and will be stopped altogether within a few years. They will be on their own—on land they do not own, in houses they do not own. They have been trained to do nothing.

Now there are those who advocate parceling the land out to the Indians, giving them deeds for it and telling them to get busy and make a living off it—or else. The land or starve. Undoubtedly most of the land would be sold into white ownership within a few years. The little group of Indians who now live there would scatter and become lost as a racial unit, and their condition would at least no longer prove a matter of white concern, and those who are charged with the responsibility of the Indian's welfare could forget about the whole thing.

From every indication, the Hannanville Potawatomes have nearly reached the end of their trail.

ies related by older Indians. Official records show it to be essentially correct.

The Hannanville Indians are Potawatomes who came originally from the Chicago area of southern Lake Michigan. The government rounded them up, loaded them in boxcars, and took them to a reservation near Council Bluffs, Iowa. None of the Indians wanted to leave their Great Lakes woodlands to live on the plains. Some of them escaped and moved northward, traveling by canoe and pony, until they reached Cedar bay. At the mouth of the Cedar river they established a village. White men came and they moved inland to the present site of the colony. About 1805 or 1870 missionaries came to them. In 1913 the land on which they lived was bought by the government and they have resided there since.

LAND STEWARDSHIP—The government continues to own the land assuring the Indians a tax-free place on which to live. Otherwise it has largely forgotten the approximately 130 Indians who are tenants on its land.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—In earlier columns I cited some of the dangerous and more pessimistic trends in both the U. S. A. and U. S. S. R. which might lead to war with Russia. Today I want to deal with some of the more optimistic trends.

Most people don't realize it but in Italy exists the largest Communist party outside of Soviet Russia. Italian Communists in the Italian parliament control about one-third of the votes, while in the French chamber of deputies, the proportion is similar.

Thus it is easily understandable why the French and Italian governments, though vigorously anti-Communist, cannot ignore local Communist leaders. In fact, they have to cooperate with Communist mayors.

In traveling through northern Italy, Americans aboard the Friendship Train had to meet and deal with several Communist mayors. Many Italian cities are Communist governed, and most of the Communist mayors—though some reluctantly—came down to the train.

As far as I could see—and other American newspapermen who live permanently in Italy confirm this—many of these Communist mayors are only skin deep. They are either theoretical Communists or else Communists by reason of political expediency. And if popular sentiment shifted they might shift also.

WHY ITALY IS COMMUNIST

In fact, a large part of the Communist population of northern Italy goes to church, gets along with the parish priests, and obviously have become Communists for two reasons: 1. Because they are hungry. 2. Because they labor under the impression that they will get material reward. As one Communist farmer expressed it:

"The Communists are going to divide up the land. I now have hectares, and under the Communists I should get ten more, making a total of twenty hectares. That'll make me a pretty good farmer."

Obviously this farmer hadn't the slightest conception of what Communism was; for no good Communist ever talked like that.

In other words, if someone did a better selling job on some other "ism" and at the same time produced greater material reward, there would be a pell-mell desertion from the bandwagon of Italian Communism. And the same is true in France, and would be true also in Poland, Czechoslovakia and other countries on the edge of the iron curtain—were it not for one very potent reason.

ON THE EDGE OF THE CURTAIN

In Czechoslovakia many people are itching to break away from Russia. In Poland a large segment of the population, including the army, regularly marches to the Catholic church. But these countries are under the shadow, if not the arm of the Red army. The potent element of force enters in. People there are not free agents.

It is true that the Polish "secret state" which long fought underground against Hitler, now has been revived against Russia. And in Yugoslavia General Mihailovich's Chetnik lieutenants are again organizing in Bosnia and Southern Serbia.

However, the big advantage in France and Italy is that those two countries have not yet felt the heel of the Red army. Their people are still free agents when it comes to politics.

Hungary people of course will grasp at anything, and that is why Communism has won such a surprising number of converts in France and Italy. It is also why they can be won back again when they are not hungry.

That, of course, is where the Marshall plan and interim aid to Europe come in. In the opinion of this observer, you need only a brief look at Europe to realize that had it not been for American food most of western and southern Europe would have gone into the Communist camp long ago.

However, food and money alone will not win Europe back. The people of Europe will always take our food, but they will think we are bribing them unless we also take the trouble to sell them on some of the things this country stands for—peace, friendship and American ideals generally.

What most of us here at home don't realize is that the Russians have put over an amazing job of propaganda. While we, the greatest advertising nation in the world, have been both asleep at the switch and hamstrung by the nickel-nursing policy of certain congressmen, Russia has been constantly hammering away against the U. S. A. until a lot of people abroad—even the non-Communists—believe this propaganda.

HOW RUSSIA DEPICTS U. S.

Many have been led to believe, for instance, that the United States has no social security, no old-age pensions, no unemployment insurance, is completely controlled by Wall street, keeps labor in virtual enslavement, and is helping Europe only as a bribe to keep it from going Communist.

That was why we on the Friendship Train were glad that we could truthfully tell how the railroad Brotherhoods in the United States helped to haul the train free, how the teamsters union helped to load the cars and how the CIO steel workers, the musicians union and various other unions—in addition to business, schools, churches, veterans, etc.—all helped make the Friendship Train a success. The fact that American labor freely played its part seemed to make a tremendous impression on the French and Italian people.

Some bins have coal—others haven't. For once it's the has bin that's sitting pretty.

King Gustaf V Promises To Send Prince Bertil To Swedish Centennial

BY HERMAN G. NELSON
Stockholm, Sweden—King Gustaf V, beloved monarch of Sweden, gave me a private audience today. After he had shaken my hand in greeting and again in departure, and after having seen him smile and almost laugh and interested in personal things, I sensed more "why the Swedish people love their king. He will be 90 years old next June but his handshake was warm and strong, not at all formal. He had reigned as king 40 years last Dec. 8.

"I'm too old to go," he told me as I extended the invitations asking the royal family to be represented next June in the Swedish Pioneer Centennial celebration throughout the middle west, including Escanaba and Gladstone. He said he will send Prince Bertil, his grandson, and that he had already discussed the matter with him.

Prince Came in 1938
Prince Bertil is an ideal choice. He made a very favorable impression when he was in the United States in 1938 with his father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf.

As if being presented to the King of Sweden was not a sufficient honor, I also was given a private audience with Prime Minister Tage Erlander, whom I tried to induce to make the trip also. His excuse is he is too busy and that the end of Riksdag (parliament) comes about the time of the centennial next June. He said he might consider coming by air and attending the opening festivities. I told him he should get acquainted first hand with the United States. Prime Minister Erlander succeeded the late Per Albin Hanson. He appears to be a hard-working, conscientious statesman who wants to make good at a back-breaking job. On the one hand, he is severely criticized for Sweden's policies, on the other hand he is praised by his political party, the Social Democrats.

I had lunch this noon, following my audience with the king, at the home of Hugh Cummings and his wife. Mr. Cummings is chief counsel in the American embassy here and next in charge to Ambassador H. Freeman Matthews, who has been on the job for only six weeks. Those who know say that America now has an embassy staff with the modern and realistic approach. I found it so. I met Ambassador Matthews briefly.

Hotel Rooms Cold
This afternoon I moved to the Grand hotel, one of the world's most noted hotels, and certainly the most outstanding in Stockholm and Sweden. It was good to get hot running water again. Hot water is prohibited in homes and most hotels in Sweden.

Temperatures in rooms are supposed to reach a maximum of 64 or 66 degrees. Women, as a result, wear woolen stockings and men wear long underwear. Even the Cummings' home was cool and Mr. Cummings said that long underwear is necessary. In Varmland, I was told tonight, by a Stockholm visitor just back from spending the Christmas holidays there, the drought has produced a situation this winter where melting of snow is necessary to get water for household and cooking purposes. It is not uncommon for people to travel three and four miles to get water. There is no water in rivers and streams. This situation in Sweden is general. Electricity as a result is drastically rationed.

Bark River, Michigan

Editor
Escanaba Daily Press
Escanaba, Mich.
Dear Sir:

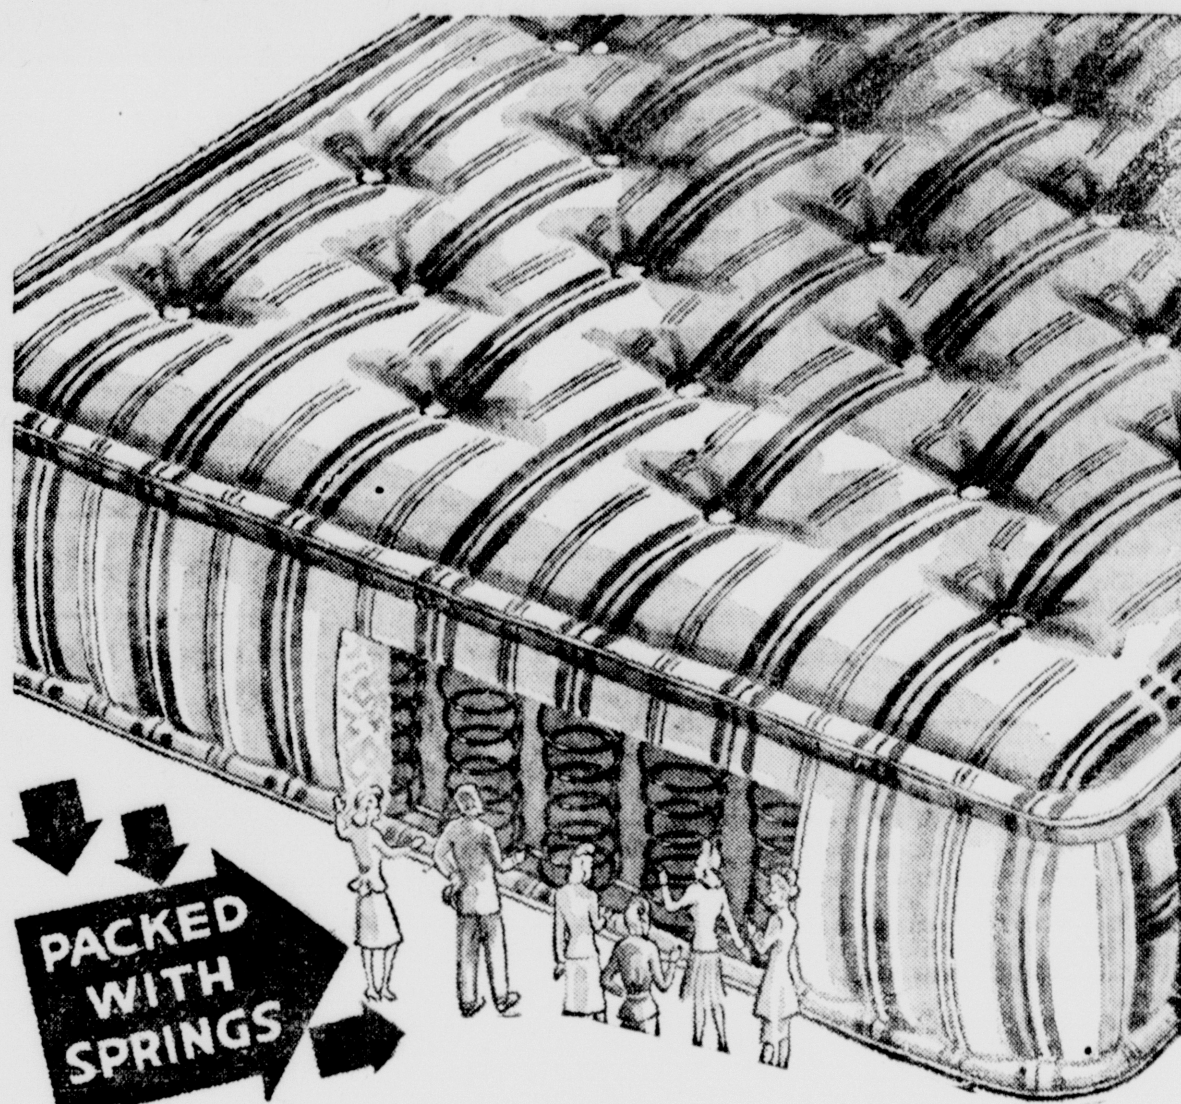

It certainly takes a man of strong character to treat a dog as my dog was treated Wednesday. Thanks to some resident of Bark River I am minus part of my lip and chin as well as my dog.

On Wednesday I noticed the dog seemed to be in great pain and I bent to examine and pet him. All I saw next was a flash of white teeth. The doctor took four stitches to close the gap where a piece of my flesh had been gouged out. Later I killed the dog to prevent a recurrence of the accident.

Before the dog bit me I had time to detect turpentine so I know the dog had been mistreated. Perhaps this individual can't realize what this does to an animal. Instead of the dog biting me he could just as easily have tackled one of the school children. I sincerely hope that this accident will teach someone not to mistreat animals. This will be a small compensation for the loss of my dog.

Very truly yours,
JOHN D. KRAUSE.

Chase S. Osborn, 87, Always The Crusader

BY BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

Down at Possum Lake in Poulton, Ga., lives a rare old gentleman, a public official without office and self-appointed conscience of the people.

At 87, though blind and chair-ridden, Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, still is the hunter of iron ore, the scholar, newspaperman and free-wheeling graduate of the old school of politics.

He's still the strong-handed man who was a lumberjack and rock walloper before he was 25, the man who cleaned up the rugged ore town of Florence, Wis., back in the days when right was packed in a six-shooter and bare knuckles.

He's the man who knew nine presidents, who gave away a huge fortune, who fought for prohibition in the days of brewery-owned saloons, the man who wrote one of the first workman's compensation laws in the country.

He still splits infinitives with the same contempt he displayed when he turned down a $20,000 bribe—cash under the carpet.

EVEN NOW HE CONSIDERS himself something of a public figure. His daily mail brings letters from such men as Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy and the street car conductor on the Mackinac run. His correspondence runs into hundreds of letters monthly.

Today the man who called on seven other governors to draft Teddy Roosevelt in the Bull Moose campaign is still fighting. He has a running feud with the bureau of census and he's plumping for federal aid to education, particularly for the South, and for the establishment of regionally supported graduate and professional schools in the southern states.

The governor also is advocating an amendment to the U. S. constitution which would limit the franchise. He proposes to bar those convicted of accepting or giving bribes for votes and placing limitations on the mentally unfit and educationally unprepared.

Most of the governor's fights these days are carried on through the pen of his adopted daughter, Stellanora Osborn, whom the governor met in 1925 and whom he adopted in 1931 when she was 37.

She is his constant companion, biographer, nurse, secretary and housekeeper. Since the governor's blindness and a fall in 1945 which fractured his hip, her duties have increased vastly.

OSBORN WAS BORN IN Huntington county, Ind., Jan. 22, 1860, in a one-room log cabin. His father was a physician and so was his mother. Both achieved their doctor's shingles by the apprentice system.

Though shy as a youngster, Osborn learned to fight early. When he was a newspaper carrier in Lafayette, Ind., a tough gang

While in Florence, Osborn made his first money. He noticed that three or four big timber companies were working around a tract, each under the impression it was owned by someone else. Osborn bought the land for $1.25 per acre and sold it for 30 times that amount.

sought to bar him from delivering his papers. The next day the boy met his tormentors with a revolver. They let him alone after that.

As a boy he loved to travel. He ran away so often that at an age when most boys are just breaking away from apron strings, he had been from Canada to Texas.

At 17 Osborn was sent to Purdue university, but somewhat ruefully the governor says he didn't get to finish. He didn't have enough money.

After leaving school, Osborn has told how he beat his way to Milwaukee, Wis., via the Chicago Tribune, where he became circulation manager of a newspaper by the simple expedient of tossing a couple of rough characters out of the department.

From circulation he moved up to become a reporter with a genius for trouble. Involved in a libel suit, which he won, he went scurrying about town with a hatchet tucked in his belt.

ONE DAY HE SPOTTED AN ad which asked for a fearless man to run a newspaper in Florence, Wis. With $80 in his pocket he shoved off for the viceregent town on the outskirts of the Menominee Iron Range.

The owner asked how he was going to finance the purchase of the plant. I'm going to borrow the money—from you, said Osborn.

He got the loan. At the start of his publishing career the windows were shot out of his office. Angered, Osborn set out to rid the town of the vice ring which also ran a brothel on the outskirts of Florence. The house was located in a stockade guarded by wild wolves.

The new editor formed a vigilante committee, cleaned up the town and burned the stockade. The ring's leader disappeared.

Eventually Osborn moved to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., after another stint as a newspaper man in Milwaukee. He started the Sault News in partnership with two others. He became sole owner by throwing time quads—letting it's called—to see who would leave town.

Meanwhile he found time to prospect for iron ore in Canada—ore which made him rich. He also went traipsing off in this period to cover the Boer war, the Russo-Japanese war and a couple of other truces.

WHEN OSBORN RETURNED from the wars he earned himself a reputation as a fighting editor and a good rough and tumble politician. He became Republican postmaster at Sault, then state game and fish warden and railroad commissioner.

As the latter he fought to end the practice of granting railroad passes to influential people, for a two-cent per mile fare and for elimination of grade crossings.

So bitter was his opposition to the crossings that only one was built and that by a special legislative act. When a group of railroad men placed $20,000 under the rug in his office Osborn just told them they'd better retrieve it before the janitor came.

Osborn became governor of Michigan in 1911. When he took office the state was deep in debt. When he left two years later, there was a surplus.

As Michigan's chief executive he reduced the number of administrative posts, revised the penal system introduced the preferential primary and reassessed all for tax purposes—and made an enemy of Henry Ford. Osborn upped the valuation of Ford's properties from $2,500,000 to $30,000,000. He did likewise to other large firms.

DURING HIS TENURE TELEPHONE companies were declared common carriers, a child labor law enacted, property rights of women recognized and an amendment made to the constitution providing for referendum and initiative.

But Osborn considers the workmen's compensation law the monument to his administration. For the first time in Michigan's history he made companies financially liable for injuries to workmen and thus began the state's first safety campaign.

Osborn never held office again though he ran for governor in 1914 and for the senate against Truman Newberry and Henry Ford. Newberry won but later was ousted from his senatorial seat after an investigation of vote-buying charges.

Since then Osborn has beaten his way around the world, writing, studying and becoming an excellent geographer.

Osborn first came to Possum Lake—so named because of the abundance of opossums—in the 1890's to hunt. Recently he deeded the place to Georgia as a park upon his death and that of Stellanora.

Since 1931 he has been spending nine months of the year there and the other three months at his home on Duck Island in St. Mary's 20 miles below Sault Ste. Marie.

The governor claims he is one of the few men to come full cycle in a life time—log cabin to cabin.

IT WASN'T THIS WAY IN 1848—The usual Hollywood touch is added to this picture promoting the centennial anniversary celebration of the discovery of gold at Coloma, Calif., Jan. 24, 1848. Model Jean Leonard wears a "gold nugget" bathing suit, as she watches re-enactment of panning days.

Baltimore (P)—Contempt of court fines are payable to the state treasury only in Maryland, but the attorney general had to dig back to pre-Revolutionary War statute 183 years old to make sure.

The ancient law entitled "an act for the better administration of justice" provided fines up to 1,000 pounds of tobacco for violating the rules of the provincial courts.

A provision sets forth that the penalties should go to "his majesty, his heirs and successors." The attorney general held that the state of Maryland certainly was the "successor."

The automotive industry employs nearly 1,000,000 workers.

LOST MAN-DAYS TOOK BIG DROP IN 1947—Preliminary estimates indicate that last year's work stoppages were only one-third as great as in 1946, only about half as many workers were involved and the man-day loss to production was reduced by two-thirds. Graph above, from Bureau of Labor Statistics, charts the trend of idleness due to strikes since pre-war 1939.

ROCKET-SLED HITS 1000 MILES PER HOUR

—Rocket-powered sleds, similar to the one above at Muroc Air Base, Calif., can streak along railroad tracks at speeds in excess of 1000 mph. Air Force officials revealed. The unmanned, jet-propelled sleds have flashed over 2000 feet of tracks in less than two seconds since tests started in September 1946. The sleds weigh about 1500 pounds and are powered by five giant fuel rockets, each developing 10,000 pounds thrust for 1.8 seconds. The experiments have been conducted by Northrop Aircraft to determine feasibility of outdoor wind tunnels in which objects being tested would move instead of the surrounding air.

If you want to book your holiday dance cards to capacity, mind your ballroom manners.

This means that while you're dancing you'll give your escort, not the assembly at large, the full benefit of your personality and charm. Good manners rule that you include him in any "table-hopping" visits that you make between dances.

Inconsiderate behavior a man will object to is the habit of talking over his shoulder to other couples as you dance around the floor, or beckoning or waving to friends in the stag line. He will be as irritated if you chat with friends, leaving him standing on the sidelines to wait your return.

Avoid the embarrassment to your escort or to yourself that comes with appearing in a formal

NEW YORK (NEA)—Suits of flower-garden colors are out early enough this Spring to steal the show from late-blooming posies.

Staging their debut far ahead of flowers from which they take their color cues are the suits shown in pastel shades of lilac and "Balmmain" rose.

The rose-colored suit, left, designed by San Francisco's Lilli Ann, features the new side-swept silhouette with a draped skirt and a side-buttoned jacket.

Mrs. Emma Pearson
Has 79th Birthday

An open house for relatives and friends and a family gathering Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Emma Pearson, 318 North 14th street, marked her observance of her 79th birthday.

Mrs. Pearson, who has lived here for the past 65 years, was born in Skane, Sweden, Jan. 14, 1869. She came to Escanaba to join her sister, Mrs. Andrew Swanson, who passed away a year ago in Florida. Mrs. Pearson, the former Emma Olson, was married here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Swanson by Rev. C. R. Edlund of the Mariette Lutheran congregation on Feb. 17, 1886.

She has eight children, of whom five live in Escanaba. Those in this city are Albin S. Pearson, Robert Pearson, Mrs. H. P. (Ida) Hanson, and Lillian Winn and Esther Pearson at home. Other children are Mrs. Pearson at Charles of Salem, Ill., Mrs. W. F. (Margaret) Brown, Wichita, Kan., and Mrs. J. M. (Ruth) Sheuber of Peru, Ill.

Olaf Pearson, her husband, died several years ago.

Facial Manners
Advertise Lines

Facial mannerisms advertise age lines which otherwise might escape notice.

The only way for a woman to know whether or not she is given to these posturings is to study the behavior of her face in a mirror.

To find out if you grimace, squint, compress your lips, narrow your lids or wrinkle your nose, talk to your mirror just as you would to your next-door neighbor. Have an animated chat with yourself. If your mirror reveals any habitual mannerisms, begin now to get rid of them.

You start correcting these habits by learning to be a poker face. While practicing absolute immobility, talk to your mirror. If you'll practice expressionless speech for a few days, you'll be able to discipline your face as firmly when you talk to others. That is the only way to drop the axe on mannerisms which you want to wipe off your face.

Once you are rid of these, let your eyes take over the job of animating your face. Eyes are capable of doing this. They can express gaiety, sympathy, excitement, and expectancy with almost no help from the other muscles of your face. When eyes are entrusted to the job, you need have no further worry about facial poise.

ABOUT NEEDLES

Fine sewing needles in short supply for several years, because of lack of top grade steel, are lining up on notion counters again. Seamstress who know their stuff about needles will replenish sewing baskets with needles designed for specific purposes and fabrics.

Needles are numbered to indicate size—the higher the number, the thinner the needle. The weight of the fabric determines the best size to choose—fine fabrics, thin needles; heavy fabrics, coarse needles.

Regular needles have round eyes but equally serviceable and easier to thread are darning and embroidery needles with long, oval eyes.

For pushing through leather and fur, look for a glover's needle with a three-cornered point. An extremely long, sharp beading needle is streamlined to slip through beads and sequins without splitting the ornament or getting stuck in small openings.

Tapestry needles should have dull points to push between threads of coarse fabric instead of piercing them.

ABOUT ACRYLICS

Increased use of acrylics—one branch of the plastics family—for decorative pieces, jewelry, brush handles, and combs sharpens the need to recognize its characteristics if you want to know your stuff. Here are clues for care.

The resin can be recognized at the flick of a finger. When tapped with fingernail or pencil, acrylics have a dull sound and no echoing ring. Although sold under two principal trade names, the basic composition is the same.

Veteran Counsellor
Issues Annual Report

Assisting Veterans of World Wars I and II to avail themselves of the rights and benefits that are theirs through federal legislation is a task that is on as large a scale and as replete with intricate detail as many a county elective office.

Congress, in its deep concern over the veterans' postwar needs, passed some very comprehensive legislation, but in order to safeguard government interests against those who might unworthily impose upon them much of this legislation has been surrounded with laws that have innumerable instances proved to be red tape that has worked hardships on many a veteran.

The annual report of the Schoolcraft County Council of Veterans Affairs has brought to light the very commendable way in which this country is ready to care for its disabled and needy veterans and it also reveals the maze of red tape which has to be overcome. It also reveals that those most worthy of assistance in the most dire need of it, are the ones who are the least able to adequately present their claims.

According to Leonard Multhaup, veterans counsellor, the Schoolcraft county vet council is the only one in the state wherein that body and the chamber of commerce combine their activities. This had resulted in a considerable reduction in the cost of operation.

Hundreds Benefit
Records in the local office indicate that 1398 veterans have been assisted by this center during the past two years it has been in operation at a cost of approximately $3.12 per veteran per year, to the people of Schoolcraft county. The benefits derived from the operation of this center have proved to be a vast more.

The financial report graphically shows that thousands of dollars have been obtained for, and are being spent by veterans in this county monthly as a direct result of the operation of the center and while these benefits are impressive, they do not include financial benefits, pertaining to veterans in job training, and state bonus benefits. In many instances these benefits were facilitated through the work of the counselling center which assisted in the matter of making applications and the giving of competent advice.

Many veterans from Newberry, Engadine, Naubinway, Curtis, Gould City and Garden areas have been serviced by this center and the good will that has resulted has reflected credit to this community.

Requests or needs indicated run into 37 categories the most numerous which had to do concerning the state bonus, claims against the government, terminal leave, Michigan veterans trust fund, government insurance, medical attention, legal advice, notarization of documents and vocational training. There were, however, contacts in smaller numbers for entrance in professional schools or colleges, burial and tombstones, business loans, farm loans, civil service, admission to hospitals, allotments, correcting discharge papers, attending to lost discharge papers, rationed goods and priorities. ## SKI CLUB SEEKS MORE MEMBERS

Concerted Drive Planned To Raise Needed Funds

A concerted drive for membership in the Gladstone Ski Club is to be inaugurated the coming week under the direction of Larry Johnston, it was announced yesterday.

Sale of memberships so far this season has been on a "come and get 'em" basis and as a result are somewhat below other years and it is felt that a large number of persons, particularly adults would purchase buttons if contacted.

Use of ski club facilities among the youth of the community is widespread but adult membership and participation in the sport has fallen off to some extent.

Expenditures this season will be heavier than usual for one of the ski tow ropes has finally worn out after a number of years of service and it will take about $80 to replace it. Money is also needed to help finance the Winter Carnival.

The drive chairman said yesterday that in view of the financial need and the greatly increased use of the facilities at the park it was hoped that many adults, tho not skiers, would purchase buttons to support the club.

Solicitors will be named to cover the Vener Mill, Marble Arms and Marble-Card plants and the Soo Line as well as making a thorough canvass of the business section.

Persons not contacted directly may purchase their buttons from either the Siebert Hardware or Val-Hoover Sport Shop.

Cargo Glider Can Carry Four Tons

Trenton, N. J., (SS)—A cargo glider plane, said to be the first all-metal model produced in America, is now completed and under field tests here at the plant of the Chase Aircraft Company. It is capable of carrying four tons of freight in addition to its two-man crew.

This glider was built for the U. S. Air Force. It can carry 30 fully-equipped combat troops. The plane, dubbed the Avitric or XCG-18A, is 53 feet long and has an 86-foot wingspan. Its cargo hold is 24 feet long, eight wide and six high. One notable feature is its extremely thin wing. This decreases drag and simplifies the job of the towing plane.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Now that considerable more light has been provided for the indoor skating rink at the state fairgrounds, George Grenholm, city recreation director, has penned a report that throws more light on the operation of the popular ice arena by the city recreation department.

Persons inclined to take these things for granted without realizing the immense amount of work and expense involved will find this report an eye-opener.

The ice doesn't just freeze there naturally year after year and—lo and behold!—there's your ice rink. It takes money and work. Someone has to clean up the place regularly. Someone has to spray water on the concrete and gradually build up an ice surface and then keep it through a long season.

Someone has to build sideboards, protective screens, wooden floors in the lobby for steel blades, and someone has to put up a refreshment booth. The lobby has to be heated.

The next problem is to erect the bleachers in time to do the hockey club some good. Customarily, they are erected for the ice revue, but next season why not get them up in time to benefit hockey crowds the entire season?

It is still not too late to provide seating facilities for increased hockey crowds this season. Many games remain on the schedule. Bleachers at the rink now are too low for ice rink use. The large bleachers on the permanently installed I-beam bordering the rink would be fine, but they're not erected. They're stored away some place. In the meantime, hockey fans stand up to see the Hawks perform.

Grenholm's informal report follows:

"One of the agreements by which the Escanaba recreation department is afforded the use of the indoor ice rink with the Michigan state fair board is that all equipment must be removed from the building after the state fair is completed. Naturally this entails some cost. After the skating season this same material, booths, etc., must be again returned and set into its original position.

"Also in the agreement is that the building must in no way be damaged or disfigured. In order to conduct the skating program at the indoor rink, the recreation department has to put in an entirely new floor, so that the skaters do not cut the floor, with their skates. Lumber for this has to be purchased and put in every year.

"Now the item of lighting—these decorations are put up by the state fair board and used for the state fair. Last year some of these decorations were removed and had to be placed again in the spring. If skating followers in Escanaba could only begin to realize the tremendous cost it is to operate the indoor ice rink, they would appreciate this factor more.

"This year the recreation department went all out for hockey in Escanaba, adding a complete new installation at the junior high school with a regulation hockey rink and the best lighted rink in the U. P. and employing a person on the staff who conducts and promotes hockey on a citywide basis—Bob Grabowski.

"At the indoor ice rink new hockey boards were installed, as well as wire screening. All in all this has cost the recreation department quite a sizeable amount, which incidentally it has had to draw from other accounts, because none was appropriated. The local Hawks hockey team has agreed to refund a portion of this money by a 20 percent deduction of their gross gate receipts, after Federal tax is deducted.

"Our hockey program in Escanaba will cost the recreation department $1,864. Returns from the Hawks' games may offset this amount so that next year we may again have a hockey program. The local hockey association is to be complimented for its interest in the sport and for the help which has been given to the city."

High-Powered Badgers Meet Wolves Tomorrow

Chicago, Jan. 16 (AP)—Michigan, which blasted Wisconsin's football title hopes last fall, will be back in Madison, Wis., tomorrow night, apparently to face the music in basketball from the high-voltage Badgers, who have swept four straight Big Nine starts in their championship defense.

The Wolverine-Wisconsin tussle is one of four Saturday night conference battles which also include Illinois at Minnesota, Indiana at Iowa and Northwestern at Purdue. Ohio State entertains Pittsburgh in a non-league contest.

To hand Wisconsin its first conference loss, Michigan will have to display considerable improvement over its form of last Monday night when the Wolverines were upset by Northwestern, 51-48 for an even break in two league tests. The same night, Wisconsin dealt Iowa its first defeat of the season, 60-51, dumping the Hawkeyes into a second-place tie with Illinois, each with a conference record of 2-1.

The Badger combination of a home-floor advantage—Wisconsin has won all six of its pre-conference and Big Nine starts at Madison—and the sharp-shooting of little Bobby Cook with a 15.5 point average and big Don Rehfeldt with 12.25, is expected to be much more than Michigan's still yelling quintet can overcome. Indiana (1-2) uncorked a 71-point attack in belting Ohio State last Monday night and should give the once-untracked Hawkeyes a stiff argument at Iowa City. Illinois' quest for its third straight victory since its opening reversal by Wisconsin will be complicated by Minnesota's 6-foot, 9½-inch Jim McIntyre, who has averaged 22.5 points in the Gophers' two unsuccessful conference tries.

Purdue (1-1) can keep alive its title hopes by hurling Northwestern (1-2) which uncovered a fine center prospect against Michigan in football tackle George Maddock, who bagged 19 points. The Boilermakers get their first and only look at Wisconsin next Monday night.

Top Midwest independent action Saturday night includes Michigan State at Western Reserve in Cleveland, Bowling Green of Ohio at Marquette, Notre Dame at St. Louis and Dayton at Bradley of Peoria, Ill.

The Independents took K-C 40 25, thanks to Benard's 20 points. Weber dropped in 11 for the K-C. Mike's Bar scored an upset victory over Perkins, 41-25, as Bob Dufour came through with a 16-point spurge for the men of Mike. Sutila tallied nine for Perkins.

Mickey Kuchenberg scorched the twine for 20 points as his State Bank aggregation topped Liberty Clowns, 33-23. Beaudoin of the Clowns crew made seven.

The finale brought together Bridges and City Drugs with the former winning, 59-19. Top scores were Lewis and Freeman of Bridges with 14 and 11, respectively, and Prokos of City Drug, seven.

Steve Baltic, Tom Dufour, Bob Anderson and Ed Gauthier shared officiating duties.

St. Joe Host To Gladstone; Eskymos At Menominee

Trojans Out For Revenge

Braves Won First Game This Season By 38-34 Count

Highlighted by the St. Joe Trojans quest to avenge a defeat at the hands of the Gladstone Braves early in the season, a tripleheader cage program is on tap at the William Bonifas gym Saturday evening.

The lasses will start the ball rolling at 6 p. m. Doris Costley's St. Joe team opposing Ray Ranquette's fast Cooks' girls aggregation, generally accepted as one of the leading girls' teams in this sector.

Trojan girl starters will be Phyllis Dishneau, Theresa Weber, forwards; Bernadette Fazer, center forward, and Jean Gravelle, Louise LeBlanc and Beverly Gafner, guards. Others who will see action are Betty Sullivan and Mary Ann Guenier, forwards, and Mary Jean Bink, Mary Marsieck and Carol Peltier, guards.

The Gladstone and St. Joe reserves will tangle at 7, and the main game of the evening, the viristly clash, will get underway at 8:30.

Coach Fred Boddy's boys have been going great guns of late, acquiring a new piece of hardware for the Trojan mantle in winning the U. P. parochial championship and posting their seventh win of the season against two losses in disposing of Rock last week.

But one of those defeats was at the hands of Gladstone, 38-34, when first they met in Gladstone before the holidays. That is the thought that rankles in the Trojans' minds as they contemplate tomorrow night's game.

And with Jack Miron, Ed Henniken, Gerald Gleich, Gerald Harris, Ozzie Viaw, Philip LeGault and company riding high, they aim to do something about it.

Curly Works Fast To Sign Oscar Smith

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Curly Lambeau, who usually gets his exercise walking up and down in front of the Green Bay Packers' bench and worrying about the game, set a record of some sort when he signed Oscar "Ed" Smith, Texas Mines back, for the Packers . . . Curly cornered the athlete for a little talk while Smith was drilling for the East-West game and the kid promptly agreed to sign . . . Lambeau pulled out a contract and a fountain pen, only to find he was out of ink . . . He promptly put the player into a car with Mrs. Lambeau, turned on the radio for entertainment and locked the doors while he sprinted a block and a half to borrow a pen from Lynn Waldorf . . . Curly is well satisfied with the result. Smith, a 10-second sprinter weighing 195 pounds, has quite a reputation in Texas as an offensive back, but the Packers scouts like his blocking and defense play even better.

Sharp Needle
After Rhode Island's basketball team beat St. John's recently, Coach Frank Keane told local scribes how his team had been playing badly until he aroused the boys by quoting inspirational poetry between the halves . . . At the next meeting Frank McGuire of St. John's, gleeful over an upset against City College, affirmed that he had adopted the Keane system . . . "I walked into the dressing room and started to recite a poem," McGuire explained. "The boys said: 'We've got to win this one for the coach. He's going nuts.'"

One-Minute Sports Page
Mel Patton, Southern California's Olympic sprint hope, doesn't plan to start training until March 1 this year and won't race until mid-April. He suffered a leg injury after a long season last year . . . Johnny Niggeling, former big league knuckleball pitcher, recently purchased a movie theater in Jasper, Minn. . . The U. of Mississippi basketball squad has a player named Howard Stringfellow, who is only 5-feet-7. Stringfellow is no string bean . . . Paul Christian, Sid Luckman and Billie Turner all expect to come out with football books next fall . . . Curt Stone and Horace Ashenfelter, past and present Penn State distance running aces, head the invitation list for the two-mile run in the Milrose A. A. meet at the Garden, Jan. 31. Jerry Thompson of Texas, Ted Vogel of Tufts and Jack Milne of North Carolina may be other newcomers in the field.

EMBREE BECOMES YANKEE
New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Charles (Red) Embree, righthanded pitcher who was acquired from Cleveland in a trade for outfielder Allie Clark, today signed his 1948 contract with the New York Yankees, bringing their signed total to 13 players. No terms were announced but Embree was reported "glad to be a Yankee."

One Opinion
During last week's National Collegiate A. A. meetings, one lobby-sitting coach remarked "They're upstairs voting you can't play the boys. Then they'll hurry home because they already have figured out some way to beat it . . . Most coaches are honest men, but they're making us dishonest."

Gladstone Braves Hit The Road; At Stephenson Tonight

Gladstone, Jan. 16—With three games away from home in five days scheduled the Gladstone high school Braves are going to be kept on the jump for awhile.

Tonight they clash with Stephenson at Stephenson, Saturday evening they meet St. Joseph in a return game and Tuesday night they go to Munising to play a return engagement with Coach Bob Villemure's quintet.

Inability to sink their shots proved costly in the Escanaba tilt last weekend and the Braves were also weak on rebounds.

No change in lineup is planned by Coach Eldon Keil. Doug Madden and LeRoy Brown will be at forwards, Capt. Cliff Gillis at center and Clint Butler and Charles Green, jr., at guards.

LOUIS BIGGEST 'FLOP OF YEAR'

Red Sox, Cardinal Second In Year End Poll

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Joe Louis' dismal winning effort against Jersey Joe Walcott was the biggest disappointment of 1947 to the sports editors of the nation who contributed answers to the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

Those who had come to expect the Brown Bomber to make short work of all opposition were let down by his dull effort against the 33-year-old challenger who twice knocked him down. Entirely aside from any disagreement about the disputed verdict, the editors apparently were shocked most of all by the sudden disintegration of the heavyweight champion.

Although a large majority of the writers said they thought Louis would defeat Walcott decisively next time they met, they agreed in handing the unenviable "flop of the year" title to the champ.

Choice of Louis was not unanimous. In fact it probably would have been a tossup between the Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals for "most disappointing performance" if the heavyweight fight had not resulted in such a commotion.

The Red Sox, an overwhelming choice to win a second straight American league pennant last spring, never were in the battle after June. Five writers thought the Sox the biggest flop, and six voted the Cardinals but 18 put the finger on Louis.

Strictly on a point basis with five points for first, three for second and one for third, Louis piled up 111 to 55 for the Red Sox and 49 for the Cards who were leading contenders.

Canada's Miss Scott Is Prime Favorite In Olympic Skating

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 16 (AP)—It looks like pretty, 18-year-old Barbara Ann Scott is going to bring Canada its first Olympic women's figure skating title when she returns to her Ottawa home from St. Moritz, Switzerland.

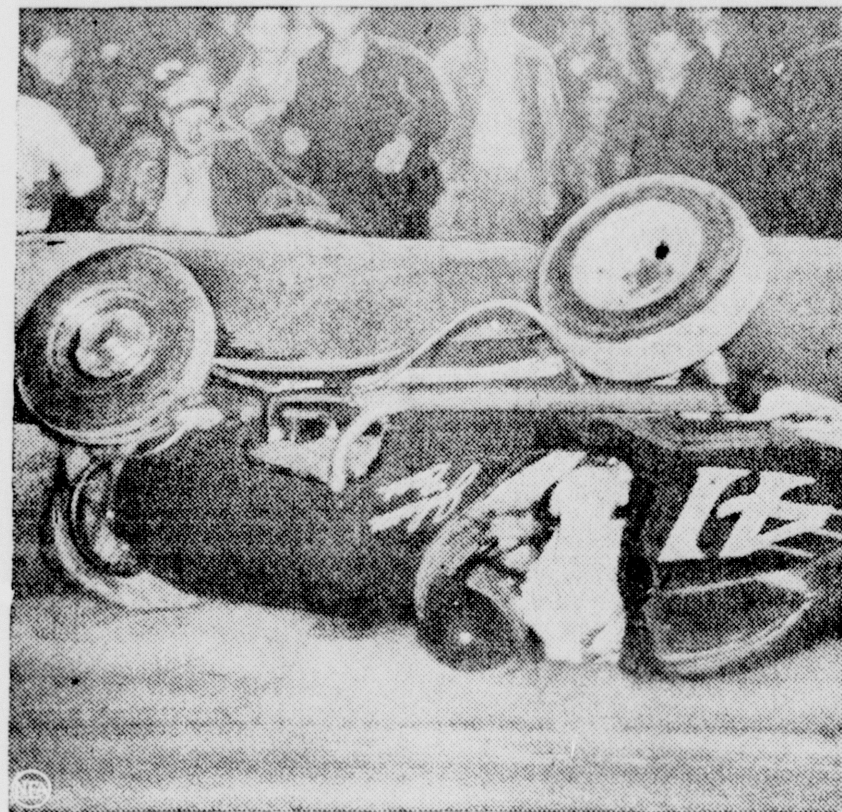

The brilliant Miss Scott successfully defended her European figure skating title here last night before nearly 12,000 applauding spectators at the Prague open-air winter sports stadium.

In demonstrating that she probably is the world's top-ranking woman amateur skater, Miss Scott was the unanimous choice of all seven judges for a place total of seven.

Top officials of the International Skating Union had described the Prague competition as a "preliminary" to the Olympics in February, and Barbara Ann appeared unbeatable in her local performance.

U-M SWIMMERS GO EAST
Ann Arbor, Jan. 16 (AP)—Michigan's swimming team will warm up for Big Nine competition with four engagements on an Eastern tour early next month. Coach Matt Mann said today the squad would appear in two meets and two swimming exhibitions before taking on Purdue here Feb. 14 to open their conference season.

EMBREE BECOMES YANKEE
New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Charles (Red) Embree, righthanded pitcher who was acquired from Cleveland in a trade for outfielder Allie Clark, today signed his 1948 contract with the New York Yankees, bringing their signed total to 13 players. No terms were announced but Embree was reported "glad to be a Yankee."

LOCAL BOXERS IN GOOD TRIM

Boys Being Readied For Golden Gloves Here Jan. 26-27

Amateur boxers in training three days per week at the Webster school gymnasium in preparation for the U. P. Golden Gloves tournament here Jan. 26-27 are showing excellent progress and will be in top shape for their matches in the classic event, Jerome Deloria, trainer, has reported.

Among the lads being conditioned at the Webster gym are Don Little, Bob Provo, John Stropich, Johnny Barr, Bob Little, Andy Gnaus, the latter a heavyweight novice of Kipling, Dick Williamson, of Gladstone, Dwight Arneson, Glenn Matson, Francis Lancour, of Flat Rock, and a half dozen other battlers.

Lancour is a former featherweight Golden Gloves champion who will compete this time in the open division.

The entry of Leonard Sharkey, popular Indian boxer, has been received by the Golden Gloves committee. Sharkey is temporarily located in Frederick, Mich., and has been boxing in that vicinity in recent weeks. He scored a two-round knockout in his last bout Jan. 9 and was slated for action again Thursday night. He reports that he is in tip top shape.

Tickets for the two-day tournament have been moving briskly. To meet the heavy demand from North Escanaba fans for tickets, a supply of choice seats has been placed at Chet Johnson's tavern. Tickets also are available at Gust Asp's in Escanaba and Leonard's Barber Shop in Manistique.

Gladstone Indians Face Busy Weekend Of League Hockey

Gladstone, Jan. 16—The Gladstone Indians will have a busy weekend, playing the Newberry hockey sextet at Newberry Saturday night, and Newberry will come here for a return game Sunday afternoon. The game at the Alger county seat will be at 8 p. m., the game here Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

Two good practice sessions this week are believed to have ironed out some of the errors which contributed to the Indians' defeat by Stambaugh last weekend and playing manager Gordon Haga said yesterday that he believed they would take Newberry the two games and clinch second place in the Upper Michigan Amateur Hockey league.

Uniforms have arrived and the players will be using them this weekend for the first time. They are purple and white and very attractive.

DETROIT LIONS FINALLY SOLD

Community Team Like Packers Is Aim Of New Owners

Detroit, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Detroit Lions, a barrel of operational problems, were back in home ownership today as the property of the Detroit Football company, a syndicate of Detroit businessmen, and problem No. 1—one that must be solved quickly—is the hiring of a new coach.

Lyle Fife, president of the corporation that purchased control of the National Football League club yesterday from Fred Mandel, Jr., of Chicago, declared that the aim of the new owners was to make the Lions a "community team," on the pattern of the Green Bay Packers.

Fife said that papers had been filed with the Securities and Exchange commission seeking permission to sell stock in the corporation in the amount of $500,000. Much of that stock already is being sought by businessmen of Detroit and nearby Michigan communities.

Although neither Mandel nor the buyers would disclose the purchase price, the syndicate was believed to have bought controlling interest in the club for approximately $175,000.

Mandel bought the Lions in 1940 from G. A. (Dick) Richards for $225,000 and has lost money in all but two of the eight seasons he has operated the club.

Fife, who completed the deal in New York yesterday during the winter league meeting, said that the first order of business for the new owners was to hire a coach to succeed Charles E. (Gus) Dorais.

BOLSTER CIRCUIT

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—National Football league officials, confident that a change in Detroit Lions owners had bolstered a weak link in the 10-team circuit, continued today working out a schedule for next fall that would avoid mixing too many baseballs with pigskins.

The schedule proposition—always tough—is more so this time because of the major league baseball season and world series will run far into the pro grid program.

Bert Bell, league commissioner, said the Lions were one of three NFL teams which closed the 1947 season in the red. Bell estimated

ROUMAN TRIBE SET FOR BATTLE

Maroons Have Rugged, High-Scoring Cage Aggregation

A little matter of getting over the hump and adding weight to the win side of the Escanaba high school basketball ledger will add impetus to the Eskymos' already avowed intentions to take the Menominee Maroons into camp when the rivals clash in Menominee tomorrow night.

To date, the Eskymos have won three and lost three, the victories coming at the expense of St. Joseph's, Kingsford and Gladstone and extremely narrow losses being suffered at the hands of Marquette, Iron Mountain and Ishpeming.

A win over Menominee's rough-and-tumble high-scoring aggregation tomorrow night would put Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymos over the .500 percentage hump.

In practice this week, the Eskymos worked with grim determination toward playing solid, efficient basketball against the Maroons, who have somewhat of a reputation for bouncing them around a bit on the basketball floor.

The Maroons walloped Kingsford in Menominee 54-20, last week, a team which covets a bit on the rugged side itself, but they proved themselves vulnerable by bowing to Marinette Lourdes, 42-38, this week.

Eskymos starters will be Dick Lough and Jim Deane, guards; Warren Gustafson, center, and Gary Abrahamson and Ray Hrn, forwards. Others making the jump are Dick Pryal, Ron Johnson, Don Carlson, Harold Pearson and Harold O'Connell.

Menominee and Escanaba reserves will clash at 8, Escanaba or fast time, with the varsity game getting underway at 9:45, Escanaba time. Coach Steve Baltic will take 10 Eskymo reserves to Menominee.

Canadiens Expect To Get Into Fight

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens took it on the chin quite often in the first half of the current National Hockey league season but from now on in Montreal fans expect the Canadiens to display the form that enabled them to win the circuit pennant the past four seasons.

Injuries to such key players as Maurice Richard, Murph Chamberlain and Ken Mosdell hampered the Canadiens during the first half but all three are back in action and the fortunes of the Canadiens should perk up.

Chamberlain, out with a broken leg since October, returned to the lineup Sunday while Mosdell, who suffered a broken arm before the season's start, played his first game last night and fired home a goal in the Canadiens' 3-4 triumph over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

NMCE BEATS NORTHLAND
Marquette, Jan. 16 (AP)—Northern Michigan College's basketball team defeated Northland College of Ashland, Wis., by a score of 56-48 here last night. The Wildcats led 31-18 at the half. It was Northern's fourth triumph of the season in six games. NMCE used 12 players. Tom Kirby, Northern, set the pace with 16 points.

The average weight of an elephant's tusk is about 55 lbs. although some exceed 100 lbs.

that Mandel lost around $500,000 in the Detroit venture.

More Judges Than Crooks in Chicago
Chicago (AP)—In all Chicago, there are only five Humans. There are, moreover, only three Ladys.

The city is full of contradictions, including 47 Judges and 30 Crooks, 23 Wardens and four Clinks, 300 Cooks and three Stoves, 12 Forests and two Trees, 13 Speakers and 11 Lissners.

Then, to compound confusion: The FEVERS are few, numbering only three, but the Manys are fewer.

If you think such stuff belongs in a book, you'll find one already in circulation—the new Chicago telephone directory.

EVANSTON TWIN SLAYING SOLVED

Doomed Negro Accuses
Pair In Telephone
Call To Chicago

Walla Walla, Wash., Jan. 16 (AP)—In a long-distance, three-way telephone call to Chicago, Jake Bird, condemned Negro axe slayer, late last night accused two men held by Evanston, Ill., police of participating in the 1942 Galvin double slaying at Evanston.

He gave full details of the killing of Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid to Evanston police officials who were listening in, prison officers here said. Harry Engstrom, acting chief of detectives at Evanston, here at the prison, arranged the telephone call.

Talking with men identified here only as "Sugar Man" Hockett and another known as "Lovalle," he asked them to "tell the truth about the whole affair and make the best deal they could."

Bird, who has told police officials of numerous killings over the country and who had been scheduled to go to the gallows a few minutes after midnight early today, was calm throughout the entire call, which lasted more than an hour and a half. Several days ago, Gov. Mon C. Wallgren gave him a 60-day reprieve at the request of the Illinois governor.

Acting chief of detectives Engstrom said he was satisfied that a solution of the case had been obtained. Mrs. Galvin's maid, who was also killed in the Galvin home, was Edna Sibelski. Mrs. Galvin was the wife of a wealthy Chicago radio manufacturer. The robbery netted $23,000 worth of jewels and three fur coats.

Crew Tries to Save Listing Freighter Off Virginia Capes

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 16 (AP)—A weary 53-man crew fought grimly today to save the American freighter Adrian Victory, wallowing in the stormy Atlantic 300 miles off the Virginia capes and listing so dangerously its starboard weather railing was reported "riding" in the sea.

While a Coast Guard cutter sped to the aid of the distressed ship—endangered when her phosphate cargo shifted—last radio reports said the crew had moved more than 500 tons of oil and water by hand in an attempt to right the vessel.

The message told of the ship rolling 45 degrees in the heavy seas. In sight of the vessel and apparently ready to aid in removing the crew was the Argentine Merchantman Estrella Australis.

The Coast Guard cutter Mendota left Norfolk yesterday afternoon and was scheduled to reach the scene about 4 a. m. (EST.) tomorrow.

The Adrian Victory is a 7,600-ton vessel owned by the U. S. Maritime Commission and operated under charter by the American Steamship Lines. It was enroute to Bremen.

Petrillo Believes Union And Radio Can Reach Accord

New York, Jan. 16 (AP)—Here for contract negotiations with major radio networks, James C. Petrillo says he thinks his AFL American Federation of Musicians can reach an agreement with the companies before old contracts expire Jan. 31.

Petrillo, after a meeting with network officials yesterday, said "I feel and I am sure the broadcasters feel that we will come to an agreement." Another session was scheduled today.

The A. F. M. head said the union is seeking "some kind of a wage increase," although he didn't say how much, and that he also will "probably" ask that radio stations hire "a few more men."

As to the networks' demand that the union lift its bans on the appearance of musicians on television broadcasts and on the use of regular network musical broadcasts over frequency modulation stations, Petrillo said he thought "we will get along all right."

"We are satisfied some kind of deal will have to be made on television and F. M.," Petrillo said. "After all, they're here."

Yet to be discussed was the union's blackout on recordings, and its plan to stop permitting recordings of programs for rebroadcasts to conform to the various time zones.

Baby 'Murder Mill' Uncovered In Tokyo 40 Infants Perish

Tokyo, Jan. 16 (AP)—Police said today they may have uncovered a baby "murder mill" in which 40 or more infants died.

They arrested an undertaker and a man and wife who operated a nursery. The undertaker, when seized, had a basket attached to his bicycle and inside was the body of an infant.

Police said questioning of the undertaker led them to the nursery, where they found four more infant bodies stuffed into orange crates.

Neighbors told police the nursery operators advertised they would care for babies, received thousands of yen to care for them, and then left the infants to starve. Police said they believed the undertaker had a working agreement with the man and wife to dispose of the bodies.

3. Percentage cuts in the tax rate—as soon as inflationary forces have been checked "it will be proper to fit rate reductions into a well-balanced tax revision program designed to maintain incentives and broad consumer markets." But tax relief now "should be concentrated at the bottom of the income scale," and the president's plan does it best.

Honest Girl and WDBC Restore Lost Purse To Its Owner

To the shining honor roll of honest people, add the name of Alice Mattson, of 401 South 17th street, and to dependable agencies in time of emergency, Escanaba Station WDBC.

It all happened like this. Alice, who is employed in one of the Escanaba "five and dime" stores, noticed a large purse on the street, as she left the store for home, and picked it up. She was in the house only a few minutes when over WDBC came a description of the purse. Alice immediately called the radio station, and within a matter of minutes, the purse, which contained a large sum of money, was returned to its frantic owner.

Alice received a $50 reward and the heartfelt thanks of the grateful owner.

Josephus Daniels Funeral Saturday At Raleigh Church

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 16 (AP)—Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow for Josephus Daniels, 85-year-old editor and publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer and last survivor of the original Woodrow Wilson cabinet. He died yesterday.

The services will be in Raleigh's Edston street Methodist church where Daniels insisted on attending church Jan. 3 after contracting a severe cold. Bishop W. W. Peele of Richmond, Va., former pastor of Daniels' church and a close personal friend, will conduct the services.

The cold developed into bronchitis and then into pneumonia. Daniels will be buried in Oakwood cemetery here. Pallbearers will be eight Negro men long associated with the Daniels household or the News and Observer.

Daniels, a confidant of Democratic presidents since Grover Cleveland, was secretary of the navy during World War One and Ambassador to Mexico under Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Newly-Found Well Real Phenomenon In Arid Death Valley

Stovepipe Wells, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Water flowed at 40 gallons a minute today from a new-found well in the parched wastes of Death Valley where gold-seekers died of thirst in the days of the forty-niners.

The well was uncovered by drillers who sank a 200-foot shaft on the 40-acre property of resort operators George Putnam, at one time married to the late aviatrix Amelia Earhart, and Frank Morris of Denver.

Putnam, who called the strike "a phenomenon in this arid region," said the flow of 57,600 gallons daily may be doubled by installation of a gasoline-driven pump. He plans to irrigate the area and plant trees.

The well site, where elevation is only 200 feet above sea-level is some 50 miles south of Death Valley Scotty's Desert Castle.

Chicago-To-Tampa Train Is Derailed; 8 Persons Injured

Cross City, Fla., Jan. 16 (AP)—Eight persons were injured, none seriously, when six cars of the Southland Chicago-to-Tampa passenger train, was derailed early today.

Smith said the injured, whose names were not available, were given emergency treatment by a doctor who was a passenger on the train.

The accident occurred at 7:30 a. m. in a remote section of the country about 11 miles northwest of Cross City.

Gas Main Freezes At Housing Project

The freezing of a gas main leading to the veterans housing project caused considerable discomfort to residents there this morning until repairs were completed by a city gas crew.

The veterans apartments are heated by city gas. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in the past as a result of clogging the heater jets. This morning, however, a frozen pipe shut off the supply and residents were huddled in coldness until the pipe was thawed.

NO LETUP YET FOR MICHIGAN IN COLD WAVE

Clipper to turn back to the Wisconsin shore as she neared Muskegon.

The ferry was freed and backed into port about 9:30 p. m. Thursday.

Temperatures rose considerably Thursday night before they dropped again early today. The only below zero report for last night came from Calumet, where it was one below.

Thursday's light snowfall was piled into drifts in some parts of the state by the winds, which ranged in force from 20 to 60 miles per hour.

The bitter cold covered a wide area from the eastern Rockies to the north Atlantic. While some sections of the Gulf States reported higher temperatures today than yesterday, the mercury dipped below freezing as far south as northern Florida.

Flour Mill Burns At Portland, Mich. With $500,000 Loss

Portland, Mich., Jan. 16 (AP)—The Valley City Milling Company here burned to the ground in a spectacular blaze discovered early this morning. Loss was estimated by state police at $500,000.

The main four-story building located on US-16, near the business district, and a large grain elevator were destroyed. Also destroyed were 35,000 bushels of wheat and thousands of sacks of flour.

Portland firemen were aided by fire companies from Ionia, Grand Ledge and the John Bean Company in fighting the blaze. Firemen attempted to lay hoses to pump up water from nearby Grand River but were unable to obtain enough pressure to quell the flames.

Spectators said the building looked like "a huge torch" as the flames were fed by flour dust. Traffic was routed around US-16 while there was no progress. There were no injuries.

Detroit, Jan. 16 (AP)—Joseph Kosarican, 23, is dead today of the fear of cancer.

The young war veteran, an honor student at the University of Detroit, ended his own life because he was convinced that he suffered the malignant disease, coroner's assistants reported.

But, after performing a post-mortem, authorities said "We could find no trace of cancer. It was purely imaginary."

The youth's body was found by his mother in the back seat of the family car. A hose led from the exhaust pipe through the car's rear window.

Scared Cow On Roof Puzzled For Farmer

Fairbury, Neb., Jan. 16 (AP)—One thing harder than getting a scared cat out of a tree, says farmer Robert Barber, is getting a scared cow down from the roof of a barn.

Barber was unloading a truckload of cattle when a cow with acrobatic notions jumped from the truck bed to the low-hanging eaves of the barn. She scrambled to the roof top.

Both cow and farmer were puzzled. The cow wouldn't jump back into the truck. Finally, Barber and his helpers got her into a ropeharness—and lowered her gently to the ground.

82nd Airborne Open To Men, 18 to 31

The U. S. Army 82nd Airborne Division, known as the All American, is open to all men between the ages of 18 to 31 enlisting in the Army, it was announced today by the commanding officer of the Escanaba Recruiting station.

The 82nd Airborne, now commanded by Major General James M. Gavin, is famous in military circles for its participation in the invasion of Sicily in 1943, in the invasion of Italy in Sept. 1943, and for operations in France, Holland and Belgium following D-day.

On July 10, 1943, the invasion of Sicily began and for first time in U. S. military history a complete Airborne Division, the 82nd was used. This was the only operation in which 82nd operated complete with all its units.

In the invasion of Italy the division left Sicily by air, Sept. 13, 1943, parachuting down behind our lines; troops were moved by truck to take part in defense of Altaville, then moved on to protect and extend Fifth Army's east flank.

On D-Day in France the 82nd moved to drop zones near St. Mere Eglise and Chef de Pont, captured three towns and forged across Merderet river. Six days later they secured LeHam and covered the beachhead.

The division stayed in action 33 days and then returned to England to reorganize. In Sept., 1944, both parachute and glider elements landed in Holland, keeping Germans from breaking through at Maas river. On Dec. 30, 1944, the division moved to Stavelot, Belgium, to take part in fighting off Rundstedt's counteroffensive.

The shoulder patch for this division is a red square containing a blue circle bearing the letters "A. A." A tab over the red square contains "Airborne" in white on a blue background.

Previous history of this division was incorrectly released by the Army.

General Omar Bradley commanded the 82nd division until June, 1942, when his command was assumed by Major General Matthew B. Ridgeway. General Gavin took command of the division in August, 1944.
